A New Competition – Mystery Photo: Peter Harper

I suspect many will be suffering withdrawal symptoms from our weekly Heads and Tails Competition; never fear, we now have an on-line competition for all to take part in.

So, how will it work?

One of our members will provide a photo that will be published in the Bulletin. The photo might have a small introductory story, or might not. The competition is simple really: Once the Bulletin with the mystery photo is published, members can have a go at guessing the details of the photo. The first one to email the correct information to the name published in the Bulletin will be declared the winner.

To help with the guesswork, a clue will be emailed to all members on a daily basis. If, after 7 days, no one has correctly guessed the photo details, the competition will lapse and the correct answer emailed to all.

The competition will cost $1 per member to play; the same as Heads and Tails. This winner will receive the obligatory bottle of premium vino (to be delivered once the silly season is over). To simplify the life of the Treasurer, it is assumed that all members will play each week. We can either invoice you for the number of weeks we run the competition or you can make automatic payments to the club bank account. Of course, if you don't want to play, just let the Treasurer know.

Greg will be looking for more mystery photos, so get clicking

OK, to this week's competition:

Clue 1:

A number of moons ago, some members helped build Pete's shed. Well, recently, a number of "dots" have appeared on the outside of the cladding.

Winner will be the one who correctly guesses the source of the dots.
